Prologue

As you can see, this book is quite a departure from the yearbooks SFA has seen in the past.

It is not by accident.

During your years at SFA, your mind has processed millions of images - "mental snapshots" if you will, of what your days in Nacogdoches were like. You probably have photos of your friends, or a casual shot of yourself in front of the statue. Consider this book a supplement, a book of photographs designed to spark your personal memories of the people and places you knew here.

No publication can be all things to all people. The yearbook cannot provide your personal vision of every event, game, class, party, or function. But this book is a thorough and diverse collection of images intended to show what it was like at Stephen F. Austin State University in 1990-91.

Let it be a catalyst for your memories of SFA.

PRESIDENT BOWEN

1990 proved to be a pivotal point in SFA's history as Dr. Donald E. Bowen, vice president for academic affairs at Southwest Missouri State University, replaced Dr. William R. Johnson as the University's fifth president.

Dr. Bowen, who was officially inaugurated April 5, 1991, used his first semester on the job as a time of orientation and observation, visiting every area of the campus. During this time he noted strengths and weaknesses of the University and began formulating an overall strategic plan to more clearly define SFA's goals.

"What I think is important is that everyone understands what it is we're going to do, what it is we're not going to do and then work to do that," he said.

During the transition period, Dr. Bowen said his goals for the University have tended to be somewhat "generic," but he emphasized his concern that students get an educational experience relevant to their needs while keeping their costs low.

"These are the kind of goals any president of any institution, whether it be Sam Houston, Southwest Texas or Lamar, would have. I think it means we have to recognize our heritage; we have to recognize we're a human enterprise, and the people are most important," he said.

Meeting these goals will mean changes across the board, from raising academic standards to reviewing how faculty are hired.

"When we hire faculty they will have to understand that teaching is the most important element, secondary to research — that they are going to be evaluated on the basis of their teaching, rewarded and promoted on that basis," Dr. Bowen said.

Among the issues Dr. Bowen has already begun to address are the need for a new registration system, parking and low faculty salaries. He would also like to see an expansion of student recruiting services, a more developed fundraising program and possibly an honors program.

"We need to invest more in the people around here and do something about our salary structure. That's a problem that is easy to identify but difficult to find a solution to, unless I strike oil or something," he said.

As for his vision of SFA, Dr. Bowen sees the University as a "pretty well-kept secret." He said he would like to see SFA carve a place for itself among the schools in Texas by emphasizing the personalized attention available at the University.

"I want them to say when you come here you're going to get a better education because our primary focus is you, and so there are going to be small classes, good advising, a good library, good computers — and you're going to be able to use them," he said. "We're a much more caring institution."

"I think in doing that we can stake out for ourselves a unique niche in higher education in the state of Texas," Dr. Bowen said.

THE PINE LOG

It's 2:30 a.m. and someone is asking for a frisbee. A frisbee? "Yeah, you know, the thing with the numbers on it. You use it for photos." I toss him a proportion wheel. I move back to the front page and notice the headline's a little crooked.

The words are kind of fuzzy now. "Particle Man" and an undying line of some other song-"Is it dead? Is it dead?" - keep bouncing through my mind. I think I'm losing my mind.

I look at the clock: it's 3 a.m. Why are we still here? Why am I still here?

Slich, slich. Bits and pieces of paper now decorate the black tile floor, and, with wax side up, they attach themselves to the bottom of my Keds. It's always nice to find little reminders of production nights misplaced around my house the next morning (or afternoon as the case may be) when I wake up and try to get ready to face the world again. Some of my worst nightmares occur after production nights finally die and those little scraps of paper jump into my subconscious and try to convince me they fell off the news page before they made it to the printer.

3:35 a.m. The sports editor slides over to me; picking up an Exacto in one hand and a pair of scissors in the other, I brace myself for the standard line. "Uh, we've got a problem." The unpredictables can be so predictable at times.

Music screams out of the darkroom, that Bermuda Triangle of newsrooms where many go but from which few return. Like the night Luther the custodian tried to empty the trash and thought he had taken his step on the other side when a female voice called out to him out of the darkness, "Hi Luther."

"Fine, fine."

An associate editor sits at her desk, staring at the same empty nail hole in the wall. She says she's "thinking." We're all impressed. Then she mutters something about a ball player and Bullwinkles. Deep.

Why am I here? I remember when I first heard of SFA. Stephen F. What? I was concerned from the beginning. Just roll the name around in your head - Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches, Texas. Then think "Duke. Rice. Princeton. Harvard. Yale." Somehow it didn't have the same ring to it.

Then I finally visited for myself. Yes, the town really did exist, and it had more than one red light. Somehow in the midst of filling out forms and standing with my mouth open under very large pine trees (an ancient freshman ritual), I got ushered down to The Pine Log.

The Pine Log. What a nice name.

And that's where it all began. Work in the student publications office has this strange effect on people - writers consider it suicide, editors call it a disease, roommates call it a wart, professors see it as a minor distraction. Whatever the case, it's addictive, and like any addiction, it plays with a loaded hand of subtlety.

First, as a news writer or photographer on staff, you try to figure out a time when you can quietly slip into the office to check for an assignment. This usually doesn't work for two reasons, one being that the only entrance is through a door that opens the opposite way from what you would expect. Just the time you think you know how to unobtrusively get into the office, they change it or take the "PULL" sign off the door.

The second reason, and the one that has sent many a freshman away red and flustered, is that at least 30 eyeballs immediately focus on you after you've figured out how to open the door. Suddenly, you're standing there, looking straight in the face with 15 people who all think they know what they are doing. You begin to think all the laughing you heard when you were on the other side of the door was actually about you.

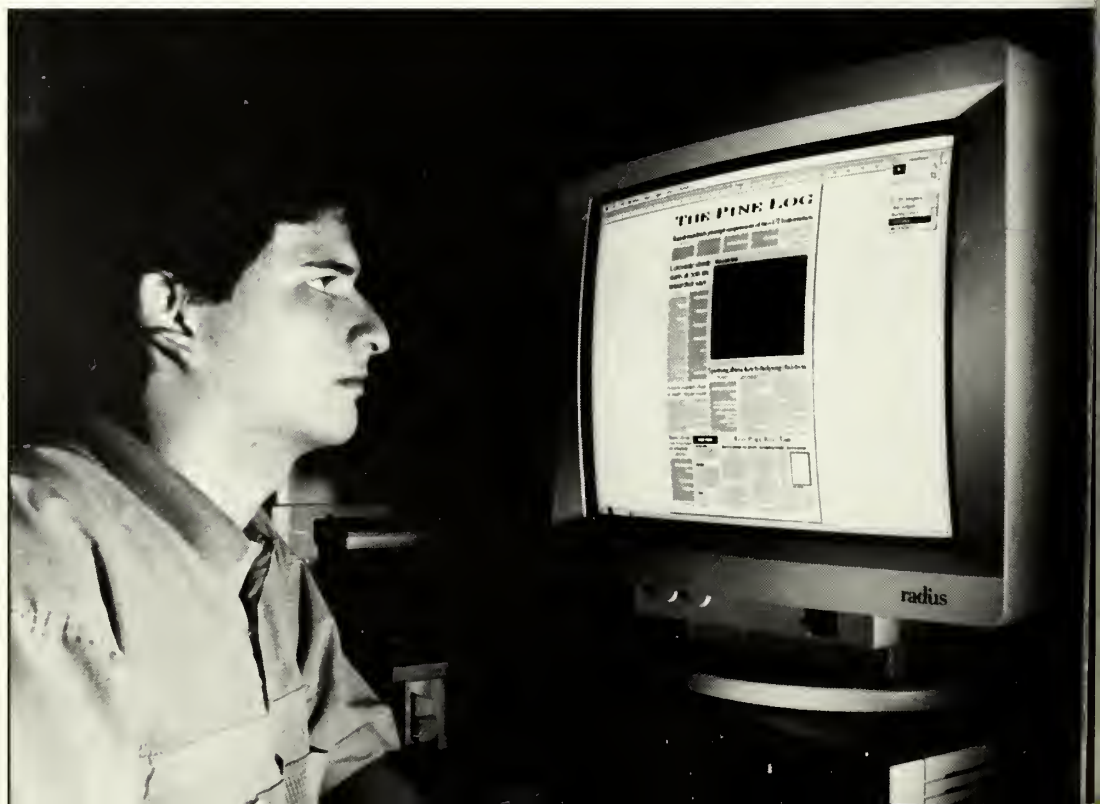

For those who have it in their blood, or at least have enough arrogance to match the rest of the staff, the student publications office eventually becomes home sweet home.

Is it worth it? I don't know. About the time I think I've worked my last 16-hour production day, someone comes in singing happy birthday to me when it's not my birthday. And, gosh, I hate to get gushy, but I almost kind of like the smell of orange cleaner the custodians use in the UC bathrooms.

So what's a person to do? Work for the paper or yearbook and maybe go to school on the side. Then hopefully graduate and get what is known as a "real" job. And then you get married and have kids who have kids who you bore to tears by telling about good ole days when you were in college. And then you die; and if you were good, The Pine Log again. Or is that if you're bad?

AT THE CROSSROADS

As college students, we've all come to Stephen F. Austin for one reason, and that is to get an education. As far as bidding away our freetime, each one of us assimilates different social outlets. Some students join Greek organizations, some join community clubs, others involve themselves in church groups, and still others commit to a vast array of social activities.

No matter our societal niche, almost every student who has trod the SFA campus over the past 17 years has one affiliation in common. That commonality, located at the corner of North Street and Wettermark Drive, has an eye-catching green tint and a very appropriate name. If you haven't already figured it out, I'm referring to the melting pot of Nacogdoches, better known as Crossroads.

The club, where remnants of Clove cigarettes and aged beer have etched their own particular aroma into Crossroads lore.

The week begins for all "Roadies," (those affectionately named because of their devotion to the little green hole-in-the-wall), on Tuesday night, presently referred to as "Oldies Night." "We don't try to play one type of music for a certain group of people," say the club's owner and founder Bill Sherrod. "Crossroads is for everyone. I like to call it a melting pot of the campus."

Tuesdays at "the 'Roads" are usually awash in beer slamming contests, drinking games staged around the barrel-shaped tables, "scamming," and rather peculiar attempts at modern dance steps. But Tuesday night is only an inking of what is to come during the rest of the week.

Wednesday nights usually begin with a line that stretches from 5 to 200 people. No one seems to mind, however, because Crossroads is tradition, and you can't rush tradition. Once inside the club, the smoke-filled pool room welcomes all who seek shelter and the doormen welcome all who pay.

The walk from the pool room to the inside bar, which is the usual destination of those who tread the land of "Roads," can be a bit harrowing at times. At least we forget that you can't mess with Texas or tradition. The shoulder to shoulder and cheek to cheek crowds that cram into the quaint quarters of the club can turn even the mildest of men or women into crazed lunatics gasping for what they may think is their last breath. The patrons may complain, but no one seems to mind the huge influx of bodies. Where else can you brush up against a member of the opposite sex in rather uncompromising ways and not face the fury of a quick, but accurate backhand by innocently stating "Excuse me."

Thursday through Saturday nights are not much different from Wednesdays. Large crowds, unusual odors, harried waitresses, obnoxious drunks, a large amount of beer consumption, and interesting barbs being cast into the crowd from the club's colorful disc jockey are always the order of the day. All these facets of life at the "Roads" come together to make for the best time most of us will ever have at this university or any where else for that matter.

Let us not forget Friday afternoons. The schoolweek would not be complete without a little emotional and social outlet for the pent-up frustrations of the week. These afternoons, once known as happy hour, have carved a special place in the memories of most "Roadies." Who can forget sitting among friends around the beer covered dance floor with smoke from the fog machine filling our eyes, and singing classic rock and roll songs the DJ sends thundering through the towering speakers that rest at the edge of the stage.

Crossroads has seen 17 years of those Fridays come and go. Since its inception in 1974, the club has gone through a multitude of changes. From bell-bottoms and the music of such time-capsuled classics as The Who and Led Zeppelin, through the days of John Travolta and disco, and into the present with groups like Depeche Mode and MC Hammer. Crossroads has been a part of it all, and most of us have been a part of the lore of "Roads."

Sherrod opened the club, which was originally a tiny beer store, so student would have a place to socialize, drink and be entertained. At one time, Nacogdoches was void of such a place for students. Being a former student, Sherrod wanted to fill the void by opening the club and bringing such names as Stevie Ray Vaughan, Christopher Cross and Eric Johnson to his club. "East Texas is behind the Piney Woods curtain, and Crossroads tries to bring big city entertainment to a little city," says Sherrod.

Sherrod hopes that "Crossroads has added something to the students' lives and that they remember those times for years to come.

LOSS OF A LEGEND

"I can't retire," said William Marshall Matteson. "I have run the SFA Theatre for 42 years and never missed a night."

But for a few days last October, the theatre marquee wasn't brightening the sky. Instead, the lights were turned out. On the door of the SFA Theatre hung a wreath of flowers with a ribbon displaying the word "closed."

Matteson, a man who displayed the precious memories of Nacogdoches on the blue-green walls of his 41-year-old theatre, passed away Oct. 21, 1990, in Memorial Hospital. He died of complications caused by a heart attack suffered 11 days prior to his death. Police found Matteson collapsed in front of his boot store after he allegedly encountered difficulties with a few theatre patrons.

Matteson was born Oct. 12, 1916, in Nacogdoches County. He was the son of Eugene and Ora Vaught Matteson. He grew up in the Flowery Mountain area, graduated from Cushing High School and taught in several schools in the county.

Beside owning the SFA Theatre and Red Wing Shoes and Boot Store, he was an SFA graduate who played forward on several Championship Lumberjack basketball teams. He is in the Hall of Fame at SFA and Kansas City. He was also a member of the Alumni Association, Chamber of Commerce and local Basketball Association of which he was past president.

He was a member of the merchant Marine Corps in World War II. "I had a lot of close calls in my time," he said. "I was in 103 air raids."

He and Agnes Giovanni were married

Nov. 2, 1946, in New Orleans, La. Agnes survives him. "He was a good husband," Mrs. Matteson said.

On July 20, 1950, the SFA Theatre opened featuring the movie "Prince of Thieves." "I thought it would be a good investment considering all the college students in the town," he said. "When the theatre opened, I charged nine cents for kids and 35 cents for adults," he said. "I also featured three different features a week."

Matteson employed more than 500 students at the SFA Theatre. "The students fit in here better," he said.

In 1972, Matteson opened the shoe store to market his invention of the adjustable arch support.

Matteson said he loved his business and tried to take life not too seriously. "I let the days pass by with the wind - any way it blows," he said. "If I died today, I could say I lived a full life."

Matteson had a full life, but his businesses are not the same without him. The windows of Matteson's shoe store are now covered with brown paper. The doors are locked and the shoes which once surrounded him are no longer on the shelves. The theatre is still open, and people continue to visit for the reasonable prices and taste of the past. Matteson's wide smile and hearty laughter no longer cheer up the theatre, but his memory will live on. The walls of his theatre display the cherished memories of a man that cannot be forgotten.

AWESOME POSSIBILITIES

It wasn't a tournament championship or a national playoff game. Hey, it wasn't even for all the marbles in the conference. It was just another non-conference basketball game in the Louisiana hinterlands. But, for the 1990-91 Ladyjacks, a team already headed toward another Southland Conference trophy and an automatic berth in the NCAA playoffs, it felt like the Final Four.

For the first time in 11 years, the 20th ranked Ladies came out on the winning end of a long-standing rivalry with national women's basketball power Louisiana Tech. In an emotionally charged contest that saw the Ladyjacks up by as much as 12 points early in the second half, it took a miracle three-point shot by sophomore Deneen Parker in the game's final seconds to send the teams into overtime. After the smoke cleared, the Ladies had a 77-74 win under their belts and an incredible feeling of fulfillment.

For coach Gary Blair the victory was the kind of event that calls for a spectacular statement. He shaved off his mustache during the ride home. As of Wednesday morning, he was still contemplating whether or not to make good on a standing offer to set fire to his Louisiana Tech jacket, a reminder of his days there as an assistant coach. "It was the biggest win since I have been here," he said. Blair had not beaten the Lady Techsters since he took over the SFA coaching duties in 1985.

For senior team leader Dayna Reed, the game was the last opportunity in her collegiate career to defeat the elusive Lady Techsters. "This was the first year we honestly thought we could do it," she said. Reed scored 21 points, landing 3 of 5 from outside the three-point circle.

Junior Stacy Brown, who has battled serious knee and shoulder problems the entire season, played an incredibly intense 40 minutes of basketball and put the lid on the win with a clutch free throw in the final five seconds of overtime play. "I don't think I've ever been as tired after a game," she said, shortly before collapsing from fatigue outside the Ladyjack locker room.

An enthusiastic and vociferous crowd of about 100 purple-clad Ladyjack fans traveled to Ruston to lend support in the effort. From their block seating high above the floor in Thomas Assembly Center, they made enough noise to be heard by the fans back in Nacogdoches who were glued to their radios. And many of them joined jubilant team members on the floor afterwards to celebrate the victory. Gary Richards, the radio voice of the Ladyjacks, noted that even the bus driver had joined in the informal festivities at mid-court after the game.

Sue Donohoe, Ladyjack assistant coach and a former graduate assistant at La Tech, believes the win was much more important than it might appear to a casual observer. "It was a win our program has been working toward for a long time," she said. "To be able to watch those girls play with the heart they showed in Ruston was tremendously rewarding. When you can put your name up next to a national power like Louisiana Tech and come out with a win, it gives you a tremendous feeling of accomplishment. It will undoubtedly help our recruiting efforts."

Junior Melissa Peay, who had eight points and fouled out of the game in the second half, said the win was an "awesome" experience. "The pressure got to us some toward the end, but we hung in and pulled it out. We knew we were the better team. We celebrated for an hour after the game," she said.

Many Ladyjack observers hope the victory will give the young team a phenomenal shot of self confidence. It certainly secured SFA a spot in the Top 25, momentum which should take it through the remainder of the regular-season and tournament schedule, and to a possible bye in the first round of the NCAA playoffs. And it certainly has given the team the boost it needs to prove to the rest of the country that the SFA Ladyjacks are a force to be reckoned with.

Organizations

Accounting Club

The Accounting Club is an organization whose membership is open to Business Department faculty as well as students interested in accounting. The purpose of the club is to provide students with social activities and expose them to accounting in business. The club also works as a medium between accounting professionals and students and faculty.

Agronomy Club

The purpose of the Agronomy Club is to promote knowledge about plants and the soils in which they are grown. This is accomplished by acquainting the members with new biotechnology and people within the industry. The club supports the SFA Soils Judging Team and assists with agricultural judging contests. It also represents SFA at the National Agronomy Convention in San Antonio, as well as at the state meeting in Uvalde.

Alpha Kappa Psi

Alpha Kappa Psi is a business fraternity designed to give its members an opportunity to interact with professionals. Members strive to achieve personal and group goals that may benefit the School of Business and SFA as a whole. Members must be business majors with at least two full semesters until graduation.

Alpha Phi Omega

Alpha Phi Omega is a co-ed service fraternity which works to serve its chapter, the SFA campus, the community and the country. They collect money for the American Heart Association and hold bike-a-thons for the American Diabetes Association and the St. Jude's Children's Hospital. During the week of Homecoming, they build the bonfire and host a banquet for returning alumni.

American Marketing Association officers

The American Marketing Association was established to further the education of marketers and enrich the lives of the marketing students by introducing them to various marketing topics. The association attended a plant tour of General Motors. AMA was very honored to have Thomas B. Carter, Regional Director of the Federal Trade Commission come in from Dallas and speak on telemarketing fraud. The members held several fundraisers to help send some of its members to the National Conference in New Orleans. The Association sponsors two faculty/student banquets.

American Society of Interior Designers

The American Society of Interior Design promotes involvement in the interior design field. The club helps to introduce members with the varied aspects and opportunities provided by an interior design degree. To help its members make ties with professionals, the Society hosts speakers. The group also holds an annual Christmas party and is involved in fund raising activities.

Arboretum

Association of Baptist Students

The Association of Baptist Students works to teach and strengthen christian principles and fellowship. They also encourage students to strive for academic excellence. They host study groups, fellowship meetings and ministries throughout the semester. Retreats are held each semester for the members.

Band

The SFA Lumberjack Band provides spirit and musical entertainment to thousands of Lumberjack fans every year. The band consists of approximately 200+ members and includes the Flag Corp and the Twirl O'Jacks. The band practices weekly and also holds summer band camp during which they hold their annual band picnic. Band membership is open to any full-time student, with auditions for special positions.

Beta Alpha Psi

Beta Alpha Psi promotes students' knowledge of accounting, provides members with the opportunity to organize and run an organization and promotes accounting careers and social responsibility. In addition to regular meetings, Beta Alpha Psi participates in the Texas Adopt-A-Highway Program and provides free tax preparation for low income taxpayers through a volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service. Each year the group nominates an SFA graduate for the Accountant of the Year Award. Last year, Beta Alpha Psi won the "Superior Chapter Award."

Biology Club

The Biology Club helps to foster interest in biology and its related career opportunities. The club hosts a number of speakers annually. Griffith Hall

Hall 15, better known as Griffith Hall, is one of the largest all-female halls on campus with 536 residents. Campus, community service and social events fill the Griffith Hall calendar. Some of these events include Welcome Week, tuck-ins, Breakfast in Bed, Speaker's Forum, Recyclathon, Mother/Daughter Weekend, Clean Up Nacogdoches and others.

Hall 10

Hall 10, home-away-from-home for 135 SFA females, has an active hall senate which organizes many service and social activities. They wrote letters to the soldiers in Saudi Arabia and worked to help our environment by collecting Crest toothpaste boxes to have trees planted in Yellowstone Park. In the social realm, they participated in Secret Pals with Units, held a Roommate Appreciation Day, made Goblin Grams for Halloween, and held a Monopoly tournament and soap opera trivia game.

Hall 14

Hall 14, affectionately called "The Zoo" was once again active in both social and service projects. The hall participated in numerous RHA sponsored events as well as activities of their own such as speakers, intramurals and a Christmas food drive.

Hall 16

Hall 16 is an all male hall housing approximately 400 residents. The hall is actively involved in many social events, but also lends a hand in campus and community service projects. Some of those projects have been a blood drive and a canned food drive.

Hall 20

Hall 20 is the newest dormitory on campus. Its approximately 400 residents were involved in RHA social events and also participated in the Nacogdoches Boys Ranch program.

Kerr Hall

Kerr Hall is home to 500 female SFA students. Active participation in RHA programs as well as other events gave residents plenty to do this year. Events during Parents Day welcomed parents into the dorm to get a "taste of dorm life." Kerr was also involved in homecoming activities and secret pals and Clean-Up Nacogdoches.

Mays Hall

Mays Hall has been home to hundreds of students since 1975, but it was not always a dorm. When it was built in 1950 in honor of Dr. Mays, first Dean of Women at SFA, it was a women's dormitory. It remained so until 1962 when it became the Health Clinic. In 1975, Mays Hall was converted back into a dormitory and made into a men's dorm. The residents of Mays Hall promote unity through several service and social events throughout the year.

North Hall

North Hall is an all female dormitory which is home to approximately 100 residents who were active in Parents Day, Secret Pals and other special activities.

South Hall

South Hall, home to about 100 residents, takes an active role in community and campus events. This year they participated in Parents Day, the roommate game, special hall fundraisers and holiday events, as well as intra-hall activities.

Steen Hall

Steen Hall is one of the most notable halls on campus because of its structure. It towers over the Stephen F. Austin Campus as well Nacogdoches. The towering structure is home to nearly 700 female students who work all year providing social and service activities designed to promote friendship and community service.

Todd Hall

Todd Hall stands at the heart of campus across from the Old Stone Fort. Its all-male population was active this year in a variety of social and service events as well as Parents Day and Homecoming activities.

The Units

The Units was built on the site of the original SFA football stadium, Birdwell Field. The Units house over 200 students and is active in many social events, many of which originate out of the "Poonin Lodge." Service projects include blood and food drives as well as an aluminum can drive.

Wilson Hall

Wilson Hall was built in 1962 and houses around 250 residents. Wilson residents conducted a cholesterol screening this year. They also participated in tuck-ins and secret pals as well as hosting a Parents Day reception.

Wisely Hall

Stephen F. Austin's oldest residence hall was open again this year after receiving renovations during the 1989-90 school year. Central air was added as well as new plumbing throughout the building. Wisely Hall is situated in a little nook of the campus between College Drive, the Boynton building and UPD. Approximately 100 male students call Wisely home, for at least nine months of the year anyway.

Flag Corps

The Flag Corp is that portion of the band which carries the school colors. They add sparkle and color to the band performances through choreographed flag routines. The corp consists of between 20 and 25 students who practice and march with the marching band during the football game performances as well as during special performances.

An abstract black and white composition featuring several sharp, white, angular lines and shapes against a solid black background. The lines are thin and appear to be layered or overlapping, creating a sense of depth and movement. One prominent line runs diagonally from the upper right towards the center. Another line is horizontal, intersecting the diagonal one. A third line is vertical, intersecting the horizontal one. The overall effect is minimalist and geometric.

Alpha Kappa Alpha

With the motto "Service to all Mankind," this service sorority promotes high scholastic and ethical standards. They provide a scholarship each year for an outstanding female high school graduate. They also are active in a clothes drive and helping the elderly. They sponsor the "Outstanding Black Female of the Year" as well.

Members of Alpha Kappa Alpha

Delta Sigma Theta

Founded in Fall 1970, this sorority holds a Fall Fashion Show, Alumni Dance, and Red and White Ball. Their campus activities include Alcohol Awareness, Blood Drives, Black History, Canned Food Drives and cooking for BSU luncheon.

Members of Delta Sigma Theta

Kappa Alpha Psi

The members of the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc.

Kappa Alpha Psi was founded on the SFA campus in 1985. Since then, the organization has been active in such events as a Thanksgiving canned food drive, a homecoming banquet, a Valentine's Day dance, and a Christmas holiday gathering. The Ron Pizer Best Advisor Award is presented yearly by Kappa Alpha Psi.

Panhellenic Council

The Panhellenic Council

The Panhellenic Council is composed of delegates from each of the five National Panhellenic Conference Sororities represented at Stephen F. Austin. The five sororities are Alpha Chi Omega, Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Delta Zeta and Zeta Tau Alpha. The council's responsibilities include the organization of rush, guidance in scholarship, extension, sisterhoods, improving campus image, and governing the sororities.

Interfraternity Council

IFC was first organized on the SFA campus in 1909 with 26 national fraternities meeting to discuss solutions to common problems. The Council is still meeting to discuss common problems as well as common achievements. Two representatives from each fraternity and four main officers comprise SFA's chapter of IFC. The Council's main responsibilities are to organize rush and monitor the actions of all the fraternities on campus.

The Interfraternity Council

Council of Black Organizations

The Council of Black Organizations promotes cultural diversity in the programming of university activities such as the Martin Luther King Jr. celebrations and participates in Black History Month activities and the Southwest Black Leadership Conference. This organization also contributes to the social atmosphere on campus by hosting a New Student Orientation/Retreat and a homecoming alumni reception.

The members of the Council of Black Organizations

Order of Omega

The Order of Omega honors Greek fraternity and sorority members who have maintained high standards of leadership not only in their organization, but also in school related activities.

Order of Omega is made up of three percent of the total Greek population on the SFA campus. These members are recognized for their support and service to SFA as well as service to the community.

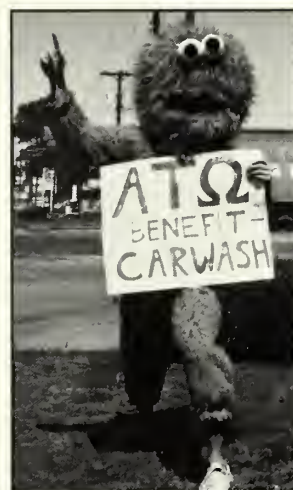

Membership is based on fraternity and school involvement, leadership and character.

National Panhellenic Council

Timothy Cavitt, Shonna Olford, Shanya Baysinger, Kenneth Nobles, Marva Walton, Il'Neatra Jameson, Tonya Alexander

National Panhellenic Council is an organization comprised of approximately 25 Greeks. They are new to SFA, having chartered in the fall of 1989. The Panhellenic Council's purpose is to unite black Greek sororities and fraternities in public service. Some of the things they are involved in are a canned food drive to benefit the Sharing Post and a blood drive in the spring. On campus, they participate in Alcohol Awareness Week.

Department of Accounting Dr. Sammy Smith

Dr. Sammy Smith, the chairman of the Department of Accounting, has seen a fifty percent increase in the number of faculty and a doubling in the number of graduates in the department since he became chairman a decade ago. The maintenance of a quality faculty is an on-going goal within the department and the faculty continues to be active in scholarly and professional activities. A recent challenge presented to the department was that of developing a curriculum which will meet the demands of the new Public Accounting Act.

Thompson

Department of Administrative Services Dr. Betty Johnson

Dr. Betty Johnson, the chairman of the Department of Administrative Services, has overseen many changes in the department during the past five years. The foremost of these is the upgrading of the equipment and computer facilities available to the students. These modern technologies have been included in the majority of the courses in the department, even those not traditionally using such technologies. Dr. Johnson plans to continue the upgrading in order to reflect changes in the department. Another accomplishment in the department of which Dr. Johnson is proud is the installation of a new Office Systems Major.

Thompson

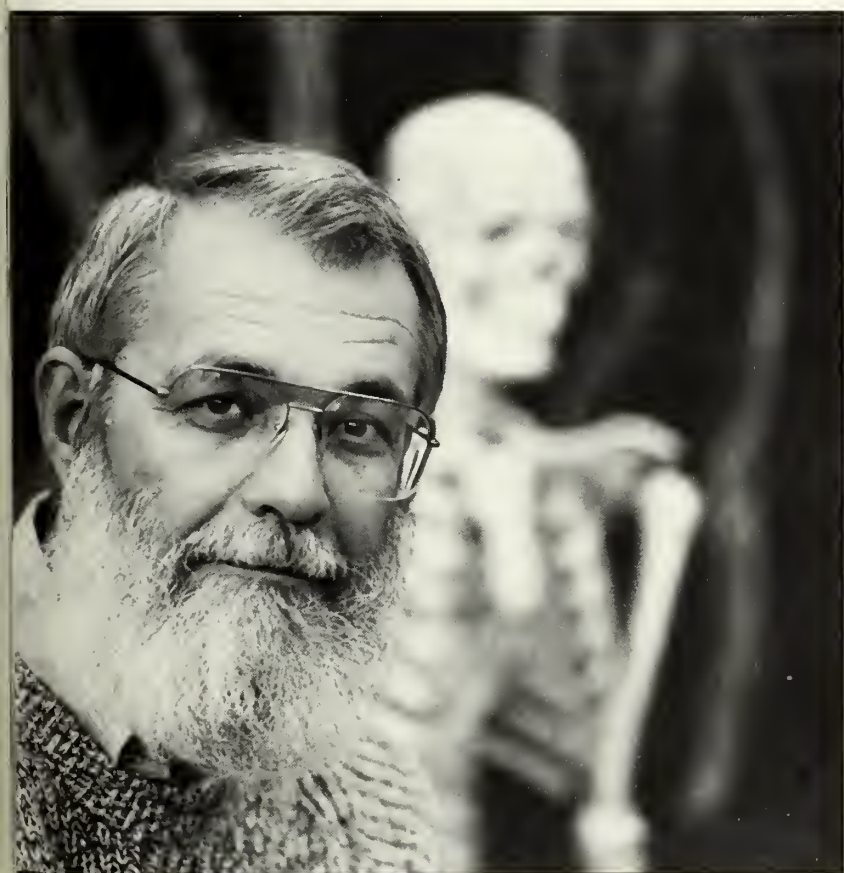

Rossman

Department of Agriculture

Dr. Leon Young

Dr. Leon Young, Chairman of the Department of Agriculture, has worked to expand and improve the department and its facilities. Among the new facilities available to students are poultry and swine facilities and a computer laboratory. The department plans to begin construction on a new dairy facility and to purchase equipment for the Agricultural Science Center. Other goals are to revise the Agriculture curriculum and to increase enrollment in the department.

Seale

Department of Art

Dr. Jon Wink

Dr. Jon Wink, Chairman of the Art Department, believes that the department has improved dramatically in the past several years in all areas: facilities, capital equipment, and faculty relations. A recent improvement was the hiring of a Gallery Director who thus far has made extraordinary progress in bringing outstanding exhibitions to S.F.A. When asked which accomplishments he was most proud of, Dr. Wink replied, "The Art Department has acquired facilities and equipment that compare favorably with, and are frankly better than, many well known art schools. We have a well balanced faculty that has maintained a high level of creative and scholarly activity while at the same time being strongly committed to teaching."

Department of Biology

Dr. Don Hay

As Chairman of the Biology Department, Dr. Don Hay credits the faculty as being the significant strength of the department. Several of the faculty members have been named Regent's Professors of Teaching Excellence, and or Outstanding Faculty by the Student Government. Since Dr. Hay became chairman, a new core curriculum in biology has been developed. Goals for future improvement of the department include adding new equipment and expanding the faculty. The ongoing goal of the department as stated by Dr. Hay is "To continue to stimulate and challenge students, to kindle their interest in the biological sciences and to maintain our standards of teaching excellence."

Seale

Department of Chemistry

Dr. Wayne Boring

Dr. Wayne Boring, Chemistry Chairman, has significant plans to improve the department. Within the next five years he plans to upgrade the equipment, construct a new wing on the Chemistry Building, improve the chemistry curriculum and increase faculty and student participation in research. Already, he has secured a research contract from the LTV Corporation to study remote-infrared sensing. Dr. Boring has also submitted the department's chemical education curriculum to the American Chemical Society for accreditation. If accepted, this would make SFA one of the few schools with an ACS accredited curriculum.

Department of Communication

Dr. Robert Ramsey

Dr. Robert Ramsey, Interim Chairman of the Communication Department, is working to expand the graduate program, re-equip the TV production facilities, and broaden the instructional capacity of the graphics lab to desktop publishing. He also wishes to expand the number of sections of the basic speech course. When asked about advancements made within the department, Dr. Ramsey displayed his sense of humor by commenting "The caterpillars have come and gone. I haven't been the chairperson long enough to observe more than that (and I take all the credit)."

Seale

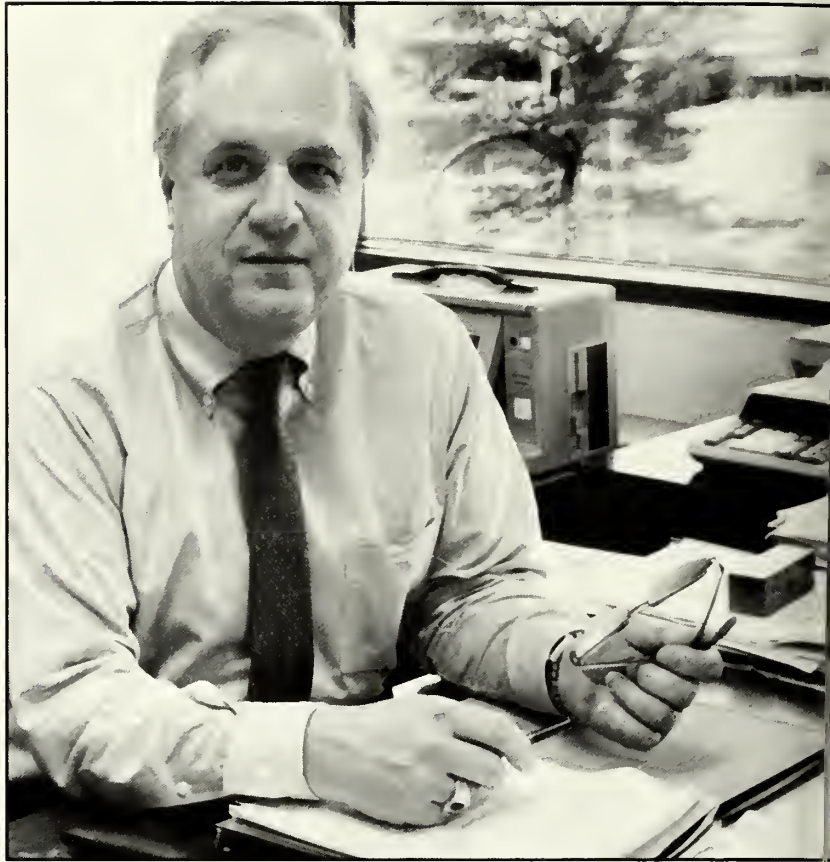

Department of Computer Science

Dr. Craig Wood

The Chairman of Computer Science, Dr. Craig Wood, believes that the strong point of his department is the faculties' research and teaching qualities and their commitment to the students. His goal for this year is to assist the university in becoming more computerized and to help the students learn to utilize computers as tools. He plans to upgrade the computer equipment and software that is available to the faculty and students.

Department of Continuing Education Dr. Leon Hallman

Dr. Leon Hallman, the Chairman of the Division of Continuing Education, has worked to broaden the base of offerings, and to respond to the interests of the community. This has resulted in a large number department offering several different types of activities such as classes, seminars, workshops and conferences. The department hosted one major conference, The National Institute for Social Work and Human Service in Rural Areas, in August of 1990 and has another conference planned for October of 1991.

Thompson

Department of Counseling/Special Education Dr. Richard Voigtel

The Department of Counseling and Special Education, headed by Dr. Richard Voigtel, has been striving to expand and upgrade the department's curriculum. This effort has resulted in a 47% increase in enrollment in the department during the past 3 years. Dr. Voigtel plans to further expand and improve both the programs and facilities. The Department is working toward completion of professional accreditation objectives for the Speech Pathology, Counseling and Rehabilitation Counseling programs.

Department of Economics and Finance

Dr. Lynette Soloman

The Chairman of the Department of Economics and Finance, Dr. Lynette Soloman, believes that "The faculty... is the strongest that it has ever been. There is an excellent balance between theory and application for real world situations." Dr. Soloman states that the this faculty, who have received numerous outstanding teacher awards, are also extremely productive in research and writing. In the area of improvements, she plans to upgrade computer usage within the department and to establish more interaction with the Texas business community. This increased interaction will aid in monitoring and revising curriculum offerings.

Department of Elementary Education

Dr. John Thornton

Dr. John Thornton, the Chairman of the Department of Elementary Education, has many plans for the department. Among these plans are to increase faculty research and publishing, and to involve the students in classroom research. This year, Dr. Thornton started the "Dial-a-Teacher" program which provides assistance to graduates by allowing them to exchange messages with professors via telephone computers. The Elementary Education Department has led the state in offering a variety of programs such as an arithmetic clinic, courses in outdoor education and an extensive early childhood education program.

Rossman

Department of English and Philosophy

Dr. Patricia Russell

When asked of what accomplishments within the English and Philosophy Department she was most proud, Dr. Patricia Russell, Chairman, related a long list. On that list were the growth of REAL, the Liberal Arts Journal, a flourishing graduate teaching assistant program and a dedicated faculty. During the next five years, Dr. Russell plans to work toward increased emphasis on writing across the curriculum, more multi-media instruction, and computer equipped offices for faculty.

Department of Forestry

Dr. Kent Adair

The Forestry Department's chairman, Dr. Kent Adair, is proud of a number of accomplishments within the department. Among these accomplishments are: (1) the creation of the Temple-Eastex Forest Laboratory, (2) the Piney Woods Conservation Center, (3) cooperative agreements with China, Malaysia and Mexico which have provided opportunities for students to study abroad, (4) expansion of the graduate program, and (5) the support of the faculty, staff, and students. He plans on modernizing the curriculum and adding new facilities. Since Dr. Adair has become chairman, improvements to the department have included a wing addition to the forestry building, new greenhouses, and the expansion of equipment. Dr. Adair states that SFA has "an outstanding outdoor environmental education center that ranks among the best in the nation."

Perez

Department of Geology

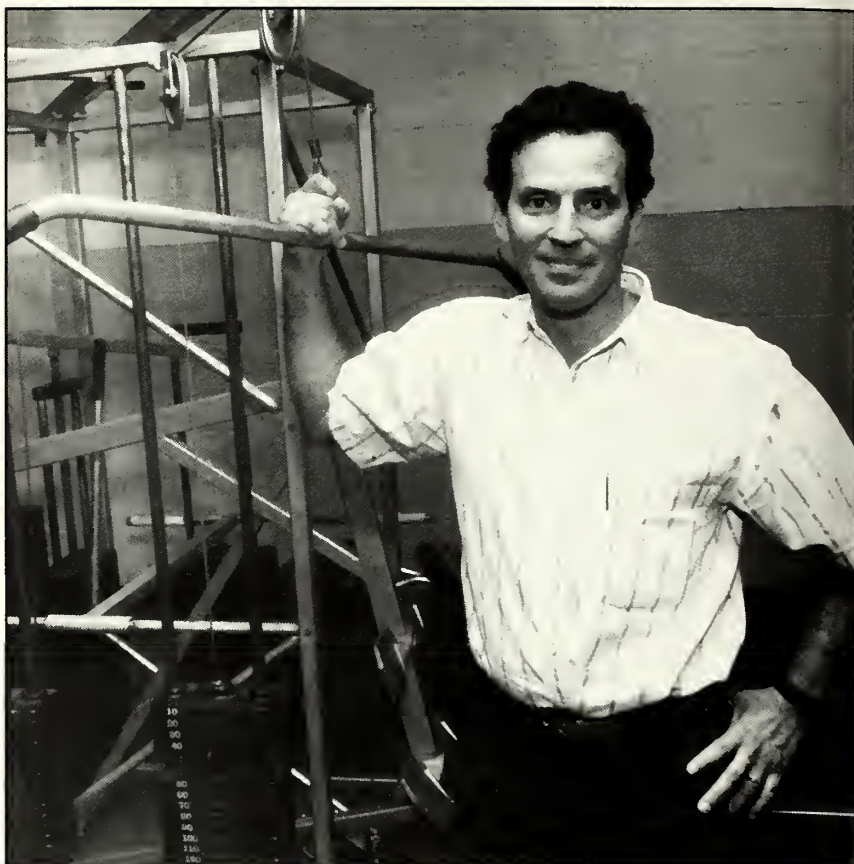

Dr. Carey Crocker

Dr. Carey Crocker, the Chairman of the Department of Geology, plans to improve his department by replacing obsolete equipment and upgrading the facilities to better meet the needs of the students. He's working toward increased undergraduate and graduate enrollment. Dr. Crocker stated that "our graduates and the productivity of the faculty" are the parts of the department of which he is most proud.

Department of Health Sciences and Kinesiology

Dr. Mel Finkenberg

Dr. Mel Finkenberg is the Chairman of Health Sciences and Kinesiology. Many improvements have been made within this department, ranging from the modification of the administrative structures of the department in order to streamline its function, to revising its curriculum to bring it into compliance with newly imposed state guidelines. The SFA Alliance, a student majors club, was reconstructed. Dr. Finkenberg plans to make a concerted effort to upgrade the equipment. This accompanies his primary goal, which is "to continue to assist in the deliverance of an excellent program of instruction for majors and minors in Kinesiology and Health Science as well as for students in general education courses."

Rossman

Department of History

Dr. Robert Mathis

During his time as Chairman of the History Department, Dr. Robert Mathis has promoted numerous improvements in the department. The History Excellence and Development Fund was established to support increased activities. The foreign study travel program was revived and efforts were intensified to bring visiting scholars to campus. His goals for the coming years include regularizing a program for historical study in London and Paris, symposiums on the fiftieth anniversary of World War II, and establishing an East Texas Historical Research Center. When asked what departmental accomplishment he was most proud of, Dr. Mathis replied "We have continually enhanced our standing as one of the university's strongest academic departments. I am proud of the high standards, professionalism and collegiality by the faculty."

Perez

Department of Home Economics

Dr. Gloria Durr

Dr. Gloria Durr, the Chairman of the Department of Home Economics, is proud of the department's "competent, dedicated faculty." She is also proud of the program's reputation as one of the largest and strongest programs for Home Economics in the state. This year, Dr. Durr has worked to strengthen the Home Economics Advisory Board, improve the follow-up process for all majors in the Home Economics program, and enrich the graduate program. The department is working to recruit more men, minority, nontraditional, and talented students and to continue to be the major discipline on campus that focuses on family issues and concerns.

Rossman

Department of Management and Marketing

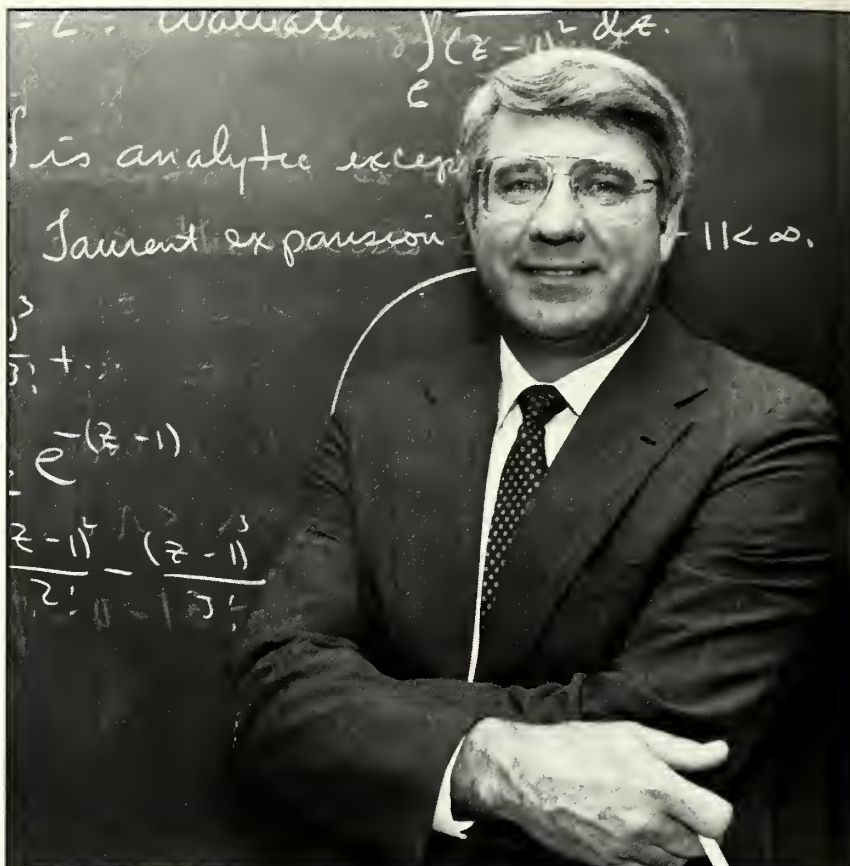

Dr. Warren Fisher

Dr. Warren W. Fisher, the Department of Management and Marketing Chairman, heads a department which boasts many faculty research accomplishments and a tremendous amount of support for student groups. Since Dr. Fisher became chairman, many departmental procedures have been computerized. He is now working to update the curriculum, especially in the area of implementing programs with increased emphasis on international management and marketing. He also hopes to expand relations with the business community.

Department of Mathematics and Statistics

Dr. Doyle Alexander

Dr. Doyle Alexander, the Chairman of the Department of Mathematics and Statistics, has many goals aimed at improving and modernizing the department curricula. Among these are increasing the number of permanent faculty, providing computers for the faculty, and providing computer aided instruction in the classroom. Dr. Alexander believes that the best aspect of the department is the "teaching excellence from our faculty and the level of service we provide to other disciplines on campus."

Rossman

Department of Military Science

Lt. Col. Van Ellis

Lt. Col. Van Ellis, the head of the Military Science program, has many goals aimed at improving the program as a whole as well as the R.O.T.C. program. He has succeeded in making the program more visible on campus. He is working to continue improving the quality of training which will increase their standing at R.O.T.C. advance camp. They are also striving to produce a Ranger Challenge Team to eventually take first place in Region Competition. Ranger Challenge is considered to be the R.O.T.C. varsity sport.

Rossman

Department of Modern Languages

Dr. James Moses

Dr. James Moses, the Chairman of the Modern Languages Department, is continuing to work toward the goal of teaching SFA students to speak and understand other languages and to have an appreciation for other cultures. He is proud of "the fact that all our faculty members have lived and studied in the countries whose language they teach."

Seale

Department of Music

Dr. Ronald Anderson

Dr. Ronald Anderson, the Chairman of the Music Department, is proud of the department for many reasons. The department has a wonderful faculty, several of whom enjoy national and even international recognition. The students have an exceptional record in competitions, and the band, choir and opera programs are recognized throughout the state as elite groups. Finally, SFA has one of the most highly respected music education programs in the state. Many improvements are in the works for the next five years, including a major renovation of the Music Building, revisions of the music curricula, and the creation of a computer/synthesizer lab when funds become available. Beyond all these improvements, Dr. Anderson believes the main asset of the department is the "superior quality of the new faculty, the increase in the number of faculty, and the increase in the number of majors in our program."

Department of Nursing Beverly Robinson

The nursing program at SFA has seven objectives. These are to provide the students with: 1) Knowledge of the art and science of nursing, 2) a broad background of other related academic areas, 3) a conceptual and theoretical base for nursing, 4) the utilization of existing research, 5) preparation for advanced nursing education, 6) preparation to function as a generalist, and 7) the foundation for continued professional conduct and development.

Seale

Department of Physics/Astronomy Dr. Harry Downing

Dr. Harry Downing, the Chairman of the Department of Physics, credits his excellent and dedicated faculty and staff for contributing to the high quality of the department. He plans to put more effort into recruiting good physics majors, pre-engineering students, and graduate students. The department is presently seeking an astronomer to expand the faculty.

Department of Political Science and Geography

Dr. Donald Gregory

Dr. Donald Gregory, the Chairman of the Department of Political Science and Geography, is working to maintain the quality of education which the department offers. The faculty of the department has continued to be active in the publication of professional articles and the delivery of papers at professional conventions. In addition to his position as Chairman, Dr. Gregory also assists SFA students by sponsoring the SFA Pre-Law club and acting as the SFA Pre-Law Advisor.

Perez

Department of Pre-Professional

Dr. Wayne Slagle

Dr. Wayne Slagle, the Director of Pre-Professional Programs, counsels and advises students who aspire to health care related fields. The Pre-Professional program provides many services for these students including orientation, providing information and applications for various professional schools, and arranging campus conferences and lectures.

Department of Psychology Dr. Heinz Gaylord

Dr. H. Gaylord has made significant contributions to the Department of Psychology. Some of these contributions include the development of an MA level professional training program, participation in the design and renovation of the psychology department and the further development of laboratories for research and training of psychology students. Currently, the department is in the process of enhancing existing programs by adding to the faculty, establishing a cognitive psychology laboratory, and updating the curriculum. When asked for a statement on his department, Dr. Gaylord responded that "I am most proud of the dedication, hard work and professionalism of the Psychology faculty and staff which made possible an outstanding, regionally recognized psychology program whose graduates are making significant contributions to the field of Psychology in particular and to society in general."

Thompson

Department of Secondary Education Dr. William Henney

As Chairman of the Department of Secondary Education, Dr. William Henney has had the challenge of running two separate teacher education programs. This has been brought about by new state requirements for education programs. During the next five years, he plans to fully implement the new program. Other goals for the future include emphasizing use of modern technology within the program, improving the student teaching experience, and designing procedures for improving networks with public schools.

Department of Social Work

Dr. Michael Daley

Dr. Michael Daley, Chairman of the Department of Social Work, has seen an increase in the number of Social Work majors since he became chairman. The program has been reaccredited by the Council on Social Work Education, and SFA Social Work majors have a high pass rate on the Texas Social Work Certification exam. Dr. Daley's goal is to gain approval for a Master of Social work program and wishes to "maintain program quality while serving more students."

Morris

Department of Sociology

Dr. Joy Reeves

Dr. Joy B. Reeves is the Chairman of the Department of Sociology. The faculty members of this department have been active professionally during the year. Many have conducted and attended workshops, published articles, presented papers to professional associations, and have been awarded research grants. Since Dr. Reeves has been chairman, many improvements have been made, including the addition of personal computers in faculty offices. Her goal for the future is to secure approval for another faculty member in order to reduce the current high student/teacher ratio.

Department of Theatre

Dr. Clarence Bahs

The Department of Theater produces 25-30 productions per year including the extensive student-directed programs. The Department boasts a summer workshop program which produces three revolving works. In addition to a strong undergraduate program, the Theater Department has an active and expanding graduate program. The department takes pride in the fact that not only do they provide valuable learning experiences for students, but serve to culturally enrich and entertain the campus and community.

In Memoriam

Passing the song of the hermit bird and the tallying song of my soul,
Victorious song, death's outlet song, yet varying ever-altering song,
As low and wailing, yet clear the notes, rising and falling, flooding the night,
Sadly sinking and fainting, as warning and warning,
and yet again bursting with joy,
Covering the earth and filling the spread of the heaven,
As that powerful psalm in the night I heard from recesses,
Passing, I leave thee lilac with heart-shaped leaves,
I leave thee there in the door-yard, blooming, returning with spring.

from When Lilacs Last in the Dooryard Bloom'd

Colophon. Volume 66 of the Stephen F. Austin State University Stone Fort was printed by Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas, Texas. The cover is a Black 075 Mission grain. The cover image is embossed with a Pewter foil application. The cover design and logo were created by Andrea Bergeron and Robert Seale. The scanned image was digitally retouched with Adobe Freehand 2.0. Paper stock was 80 pound standard enamel. Garamond was the typeface used. Scholars' portraits were taken by Sudlow Photography of Danville, Illinois. Greek portraits were taken by Unlimited Photography of Nacogdoches, Texas. Color reproductions were from individual negatives with custom printing from Fox Photo Laboratories in Nacogdoches, Texas. Copyright 1991. Student Publications, SFA Station, Box 13049, Nacogdoches, Texas 75962. Telephone (409) 568-4703.

We wish to extend a special thanks to: our friends and family, Pat, Dianne, Patty, the staff and photographers, Julie Perez, Corina Allen, Diana Grebel, Beth Sammons, Jay Carr of the Alexandria Town Talk, the staff of Fox Photo, David Raines of Unlimited Photography, Greg Patterson of University News, Vick Parker of Taylor Publishing, Dr. Michael Roach, and Rex Graham of Christian's Photographic supply.
